Dixie

Words and music by Daniel Decatur Emmett

This well-known American song was written by Daniel Emmett, one of the negro minstrels who were the popular entertainers of the 19th century. When the Civil War broke out in 1861 it was adopted by the Southern troops as a rallying song.

The musical score is written in 2/4 time with a key signature of two sharps (F# and C#). It consists of a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The piano part features a steady eighth-note bass line in the left hand and a more active treble line in the right hand. Chords are indicated by letters above the staff: D, Bm, A, G, and D. The tempo and style are indicated as 'Briskly' and 'mp' (mezzo-piano). The lyrics are written below the vocal line, with hyphens indicating syllables that span across notes. A large watermark is visible in the center of the page.
