Penny was a raindrop who lived high up in the clouds with all her friends. She was very small and wet and if you looked hard you could actually see through her. One day, she noticed that the sky was a lot darker than usual. The wind blew loudly, and the sun disappeared, and the cloud she lived in changed colour from bright white to dark grey. It was going to rain. All around Penny, the other raindrops became very excited – as if they were all having birthdays on the same day. And then, one by one, they all dropped out of the cloud and down through the sky. Soon, it was Penny’s turn to jump.
