Side Notes: This has always been one of my favorite hymns because it makes me want to get up, move and serve others. I've probably gone a little too far a time or two when playing the accompaniment to this song. While this arrangement is not likely appropriate to play in a all church meetings, it's certainly fun to play and is the type of arrangement I always wished I would have had on P-day during my mission when there was a piano available to play. Be sure to keep the beat throughout the song and don't get going so fast you play it sloppy. This arrangement can get very poudny, so be sure to vary the dynamics and pay close attention to the accents I included in the first measure for the beat.
